

The War Years

several fancy dresses. The other, a boy of 15 years, bright mulatto, about 5½ feet tall, with low forehead and hair growing closely around it. Not very intelligent, and stammers slightly in talking. He is a brother of the girl, and calls himself Fredrick Randolph. He ran off in Oct., wearing a coarse leghorn hat, brown pants, with a stripe down the sides, and a dark sack coat. I will give $50.00 apiece, if taken in Clark Co., $60.00 apiece if in Fredrick, and what the law allows if taken in any of the border counties, or out of the state. A.L.P. Larue Dec. 18, 1861.
